From the President's desk

When we do good for someone, it inspires others to do good for someone else. You can see it in your family, your building, or even at your workplace. When people see other people doing good, they tend to emulate them. The feeling of fulfilment comes from doing things for others, and fulfilment comes from the exertion of time and energy for doing something for someone else. This is provided for us as a species. It is anthropologically true for humans and for our survival.

AS A SPECIES, WE ARE SOCIAL/CULTURAL ANIMALS AND WHEN WE LOOK OUT FOR PEOPLE IN OUR TRIBE OR OUR COMMUNITIES, BIOLOGICALLY IT RELEASES THE CHEMICAL OXYTOCIN, WHICH MAKES US FEEL GOOD ABOUT OURSELVES.

Oxytocin has the power to regulate our pro-social behaviours, including trust, empathy, the process of bonding, and positive communication.

The problem is that these days we have replaced this good feeling with other things such as digital communication (which continues to dilute the strong human bonds that we are designed to build for our survival and well-being), money, and power that comes from having authority over a set of people, etc.

Intellectually, we know that we must do good for others. But then why don't we do it? Why is it that we feel resistance to doing good for others with some degree of consistency? One of the reasons that we tell ourselves is this: when we do good for others what is the guarantee that someone else will do good for us? So, we convert it into a two-way transaction by telling ourselves:

“WHEN OTHERS DON'T DO GOOD FOR ME, WHY SHOULD I DO GOOD FOR ANYBODY ELSE?” WE EXPECT QUID PRO QUO AND WHEN IT DOES NOT OCCUR, WE STOP OURSELVES FROM TAKING THE FIRST STEP TO HELP OTHERS. IT IS A MINDSET.

What gets missed out with such a mindset is that first, we have short-changed ourselves because we have denied ourselves the experience of feeling good about ourselves by helping others (being human), and second, we have not allowed the chain reaction of paying it forward to start. We have to take the risk by showing our vulnerability and empathy without any expectation that we may receive it back. At least, not in the first round. I personally believe that what goes around most certainly comes around too. So, just start with doing little things for others without expecting anything in return.

Winners aim for nothing less than Gold.
The same mindset can add the gilt edge to your portfolio.

The other reason that we hesitate to look out for others is our ego and insecurities. We are too self-absorbed to even realise how helping others could take us to a place of greater self-assurance. Each one of us can do good for others but not all of us deploy this inherent capacity. We don't celebrate what we have but we complain about what we don't have yet. We need to understand our value to ourselves. This understanding gives us contentment and self-confidence, which allows us to be more willing to help others. When we deploy the innate instinct to help someone we realise what it does to us.

In the military, medals are given to those who have sacrificed their lives so that others could live. And then there are those who have given their lives to help others, and they live with a continual feeling of joy and fulfilment. It is way more than happiness. It is joy. There is a difference which is not subtle. We feel happy at the occurrence of an event (read promotion at the workplace; good grades in school; the wedding of your child etc.), but the feeling of joy is not dependent on any specific occurrence of an event. It is an experience.

EACH ONE OF US IS MORE CAPABLE THAN WHAT WE THINK WE ARE AND WHAT WE CAN DO FOR SOMEONE ELSE. THE BEST PART IS THAT BY DOING GOOD FOR OTHERS, WE NOURISH OUR SOUL WITH THE LASTING FEELING OF FULFILMENT.

INSIGHTS FROM A VETERAN TRADER: NAVIGATING THE FINANCIAL MARKETS WITH RTN. DIPAN MEHTA

Rtn. Dipan Mehta, a distinguished market expert with decades of experience, addressed the Rotary Club of Bombay last Tuesday, where he took attendees on a captivating journey through the intricacies of financial market predictions. His insights and revelations painted a portrait of the financial world, peeling back its complex layers and revealing the finer nuances of market timing and forecasting.

Before the emergence of 24-hour financial news channels like CNBC, market analysts typically worked away from the public eye. But with the birth of around-the-clock financial news reporting, these channels transformed these anonymous experts into familiar faces. Mehta, a regular on CNBC and other business channels since 1999, admitted with good humour that his expertise might still be under review, particularly if the jury comprises his wife, who has been a first-hand witness to his occasional forecasting errors.

When navigating the turbulent terrain of market prediction, Mehta disclosed his standard response to market health inquiries is usually positive, even if determining the market's trajectory can feel like a shot in the dark. This optimistic approach, he explained, reflects less his predictive skills and more a strategic decision considering that, statistically, markets are on the rise approximately half the time.

To substantiate his stance, Mehta provided concrete data, sharing that since the BSE Sensex's inception 43 years ago, the index has closed higher on 53% of the trading days. Furthermore, the monthly closes were higher than the previous month 61% of the time, and there was a 70% probability that the Sensex would yield a positive annual return. His market outlook, therefore, is less a product of intricate analysis and more an interpretation of straightforward statistical facts and common sense.

Throughout his speech, Mehta presented candid recollections of his market misjudgements, notably during the 2004 Indian General Elections and the 2008 crisis. These episodes underscore the inherent unpredictability of the financial market and the potential risks even seasoned analysts face. However, he demonstrated remarkable resilience in the face of these setbacks, viewing them not as failures but as valuable opportunities for recalibration and personal growth.

In an industry where panic and enthusiasm can spread like wildfire, maintaining conviction during crises can be a monumental challenge. But Mehta stressed that adhering to the adage of “buying when there’s blood on the streets” has consistently proved advantageous. As evidence, he pointed to the Sensex’s 175% surge within five years following the 2008 crisis, demonstrating the potential rewards of a steadfast investment strategy.

The evolution of the financial industry, from traditional trading practices to the advent of advanced technologies such as algorithmic trading, has brought about a radical shift. Acknowledging this transformation, Mehta offered his perspective, weighing up the merits and drawbacks of technical analysts versus those of fundamental analysts. He cautioned against the potential pitfalls of short-term trading and advocated for a fundamental analysis approach, particularly for the larger investing community.

WHEN DISCUSSING ALGORITHMIC TRADING, MEHTA STRESSED THE RISK OF OVER-RELIANCE ON MACHINE-LED ALGORITHMS. THESE ALGORITHMS CAN SOMETIMES OFFER A SKEWED IMPRESSION OF FUTURE PERFORMANCE BASED ON HISTORICAL DATA.

However, he also recognised the potential benefits of AI in stock research and filtering. He envisaged a future where AI could generate a curated list of stocks to buy, thus assisting investors in their decision-making process.

Despite the potential benefits of these technological advancements, Mehta emphasised the irreplaceability of human judgment in the investment process. Factors such as market unpredictability, the need for conviction, the virtue of patience, and understanding the nuances of corporate governance underscore the importance of human oversight, he argued.

Diving deeper into the debate between “the jockey and the racehorse”, Mehta shared insights on whether it’s wise to mimic market veterans like Rakesh Jhunjhunwala.

He advised prudence in emulating the strategies of market legends and suggested that for most investors, maintaining a diversified portfolio of blue-chip companies and holding onto them for the long term could be a more prudent strategy.

Further, MEHTA SUGGESTED PERCEIVING STOCKS AS FAMILY ASSETS THAT COULD BE PASSED DOWN THROUGH GENERATIONS. THIS PERSPECTIVE, HE SUGGESTED, WOULD FOSTER PATIENCE AND A FOCUS ON LONG-TERM GROWTH, WHICH ARE KEY ATTRIBUTES FOR SUCCESS IN THE WORLD OF FINANCE. His talk offered compelling insights into the delicate interplay between human acumen and technology in the fast-evolving world of financial trading.

In the end, the wisdom imparted by Mehta, distilled from decades of hands-on market experience, serves as a valuable compass for both novice and seasoned investors. His insights provide a detailed roadmap to navigate the unpredictable and ever-changing terrain of financial markets.

Celebrating Hans Khimji: A life of service and dedication

Rtn. Deepak Kapadia:

Hans Khimji's life truly epitomised the Rotary motto of "Service Above Self".

Hans was a Rotarian for 53 years, having joined the Rotary Club of Bombay on 24th May 1977 under the classification of "Cotton Distribution". Before joining the Rotary Club of Bombay, he was a member of the Rotary Club of Bombay Uptown from 1970 to 1977.

Hans served as the Honorary Secretary of the Rotary Club of Bombay in 1983/84 and 1996/97. He also spent four years as Director of the Rotary Club of Bombay (1984-86 and 1988-90).

His first district appointment came in the year 1979-80, when PDG Naval Ardeshir of our Club appointed Hans as a district officer. From then, he remained very active at the district level for almost 15 years. At the district level, he served as District Secretary, Treasurer, Governor Aide, Special Governor Aide, and Consular.

The Rotary Foundation was incredibly close to Hans's heart. He and his wife Bharati were multiple Paul Harris Fellows, perhaps more than 20 times. Bharati was the Inner Wheel Chairperson of the Rotary Club of Bombay Uptown.

At the Club level, Hans was a generous donor to educational, medical, and community service projects.

Beyond the Rotary movement, Hans was very active in his community, making substantial donations towards the upliftment of girls' educational programmes. He was also a significant donor to a hostel in Ghatkopar, benefitting many students.

He served as the Honorary Secretary at the Mahabaleshwar Club for many years.

Hans was truly a doyen of The Rotary Foundation.

Rtn. Jimmy Pochkhanawalla:

“Tis all a checkerboard of nights and days,
Where Destiny with men, for Pieces plays;
Hither and thither moves, and mates and slays,
And one by one back in the closet lays.”

These immortal words from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam come to mind as I write with a heavy heart this obituary for our dear old Rotarian friend, Hans Khimji, who recently passed away peacefully.

Hans joined our prestigious Rotary Club of Bombay on May 24th, 1977. Thus, he was a Rotarian for forty-six years, and for thirty-eight years, I knew him well as a fellow Rotarian and a fine human being. That was a magical time for our Club, with giants of the profession and industry as members. It was an absolute honour to be invited to join.

Hans was an active Rotarian for almost his entire life. He served on the Board of Directors with me during Adi Dastur's tenure as President. He headed various avenues of service and endeared himself to all he came in contact with.

Hans was a stickler for duty and punctuality. Work was work, and relaxation came later when, with his cherubic smile, he would join in the fun.

For some reason, he was very kind to me. He made me a member of The Club, Mahabaleshwar and later, in his own quiet way, he ensured that I was installed as its President.

When the formidable Rtn. Gov. Naval Ardeshir slid into the background, he chose Hans to be the Keeper of RCB's precious archives. Hans guarded them with his life. President after president was unsuccessful in getting their hands on the archives. Finally, when then-President Vijay Jatia approached me to head a committee to write the accurate history of our Club, with great hesitation, I approached Hans for the archives. To my delight, he said, "My dear, (he always prefixed his talk with this term of endearment) I have been waiting for you. You should have accepted the Presidency of our Club long ago. Never mind. I will give the archives to you and only to you, with pleasure. But there is one condition. I am now quite old. I have guarded these jewels fiercely. I don't want to ever see them again. They are now in your charge." I am sure these papers have been preserved with loving care in our Rotary office.

One by one, the old guard is passing. Veterans have come and gone.

Today, our Club is moving towards loftier projects and ideals. That is very good. But it is my earnest wish that we spare a thought and acknowledge giants like Hans Khimji and Rtn. Sam Mahaluxmiwala, who also recently passed into oblivion.

PP Ashish Vaid:

Hansbhai was one of the stalwarts of RCB.

As a senior Rotarian, he served our Club in many capacities and held the role of Honorary Secretary for several years.

He and his wife, Bhartiben, were a charming couple until her passing over a decade ago.

I remember as a new Rotarian, how our senior Rotarians inculcated discipline in us with regard to serving on committees and maintaining 100% attendance. It is thanks to the continued commitment of seniors like him, and to our current members who uphold these values, that we are an outstanding Club.

In losing Hansbhai, RCB has lost one of its senior Rotarians. We pray for the eternal peace of his noble soul.

May the Road Rise Up to Meet You

May the road rise up to meet you.
May the wind be always at your back.
May the sun shine warm upon your face;
the rains fall soft upon your fields.

And until we meet again,
May God hold you in the palm of His hand.
May the road rise up to meet you
May the wind be always at your back
May the warm rays of sun fall upon your home
And may the hand of a friend always be near.

May green be the grass you walk on,
May blue be the skies above you,
May pure be the joys that surround you,
May true be the hearts that love you.

In loving memory of Tanya Sood: A beacon of enthusiasm and commitment

PP Ashish Vaid:

Tanya will always live on in the hearts of Rotarians as she became an integral part of the Committee for the Elders Day Care Centre at Alibaug.

Since she and her husband, Sunil, had moved to Alibaug during the Pandemic, she readily volunteered to help us complete the project and take it forward. She was always enthusiastic and wanted to introduce more and more activities for members at the Centre. Last year, she informed us that she was unwell and could no longer help on the committee. Tragically, we lost her this week. We at RCB pray for eternal peace of Tanya's noble soul and for strength for Sunil and her family to bear the loss.

Rtn. Jagdish Malkani:

I have known Tanya and her husband, Sunil, for several decades since our time in Nigeria, where Sunil and I worked for different business houses. We resumed our friendship in Mumbai after they returned from their overseas postings. On her return to India, Tanya worked for a UN affiliate, a head-hunting firm and a not-for profit organisation over the years.

I proposed her for membership, and she joined the Rotary Club of Bombay in February 2017. She was an active, popular member and keenly involved in the activities of the IWA. She was a regular attendee at weekly meetings.

Blessed with two children, Aditya and

Taraa, she bravely attended Aditya's wedding in March this year, by which time she was already very ill.

A year ago, Tanya was diagnosed with an incurable brain cancer, and her family did their very best to find a cure. She passed away a few days ago, before she turned 60. She kept her zest for life till the very end. She will be fondly remembered.

PP Pradeep Saxena:

Tanya 'talked' into my life when she bought into PP Ashish's Dream, the Alibaug Recreation Centre for Seniors, in Awas. She called and said that as she lived in Alibaug, it would be a perfect project for her to get involved with. The conversation led her to signing up without much ado. After a few discussions, it was apparent that she didn't want to be a passive member of the team but actively steer its development.

Brimming with ideas, she drew up a plan and proposed it with unbridled enthusiasm at President Vineet's commencement off-site at The Fountainhead!

Sadly, fate disposed, illness descended and began to take a toll on her commitment. Ultimately, it got the better of her and flights of angels have taken her to her rest. She will rest in peace.

We in Rotary will miss her presence, her commitment, and her singularity of purpose.

For Sunil and the family, there is little comfort in this time of grief. But those we love never really leave us. They live on in the kindness they shared, the warmth they gave and the joy they brought into our life. May the memory of these help comfort them in this time of sadness.

RCB takes eco-friendly strides in Cuffe Parade

On June 4th, 2023, the Cuffe Parade Residents Association, in conjunction with the MCGM, Clean Mumbai Foundation, Har Ghar Hara Ghar, and Garbage Free India, celebrated World Environment Day at the CPRA Greens garden at Cuffe Parade. They gratefully acknowledged the substantial support provided by the Rotary Club of Bombay.

Clean Mumbai Foundation, together with Har Ghar Hara Ghar and Garbage Free India, has received incredible support from the residents of Cuffe Parade. Their collaborative efforts have successfully promoted the use of less plastic, Tetrapack collection, milk bag collection, and PET bottle collection. For these endeavours, the Rotary Club of Bombay has donated a PET bottle crushing machine and sponsored the planting of a Miyawaki forest. For these invaluable contributions, the CPRA and Clean Mumbai Foundation felicitated the Rotary Club of Bombay.

PP Ramesh Narayan, PP Dr. Mukesh Batra, Rtn. Madhusudan Daga, Rtn. Alok Sekhsaria, and Rtn. Dilip Dalal attended the programme. PP Ramesh, expressing his humility, stated that as a resident of Cuffe Parade, it was his duty to contribute and, thus, no thanks were necessary. He expressed pleasure over RCB's association with the CPRA for the Miyawaki forest initiative and appreciated the regular use of the PET Bottle machine. He also suggested a collaboration between RCB's Lighthouse project, CPRA, and the Clean Mumbai Foundation to involve slum residents.

The programme was graced by the presence of H.E. Consul General of Bahrain and UAE, H.E. Ms. Marja Einig, Vice Consul of Germany. A motivational message from environmentalist Mr. Bittu Sahgal of Sanctuary Magazine highlighted the importance of personal responsibility in waste management and reducing reliance on the BMC for garbage clean-up.

Former Corporators Mrs. Harshita Narwekar and Makrand Narwekar lent their support to this noble initiative. The Chief Guest, Shri Rahul Narwekar, Hon. Speaker of Government of Maharashtra, appreciated the efforts of Cuffe Parade residents in Tetrapak collection, E-waste collection, milk bag collection, and PET bottle collection. He also acknowledged RCB's support to the Clean Mumbai Foundation.

Rotary unites for successful polio immunisation drive

Rotary Club of Bombay (RCB), along with the Rotary Club of Addiction Prevention, responded promptly to a request from C ward, MCGM government officials to aid the Pulse Polio Immunisation programme. Rotary, a pioneer in polio eradication, initiated its efforts in 1978 and has spearheaded and influenced global and regional initiatives, drawing in various other organisations and institutions, including the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation's matching fund contribution since 2007.

The government's flagship Pulse Polio Immunisation programme includes one 'National Immunisation Day' and two 'Sub-National Immunisation Days' each year. During these, the bio-oral polio vaccine is given to children up to 5 years old. This year, only Sub-National Immunization Days will be organised, focusing on 200 "high-risk" districts in 13 states and Union territories;

Assam, Bihar, Delhi, Haryana, Rajasthan, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Gujarat, Uttarakhand, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal, Jharkhand have been identified for conducting the SNIDs.

India was declared polio-free in March 2014, a status it has since maintained. However, vaccination remains vital due to polio outbreaks in neighbouring countries, Pakistan and Afghanistan.

The Pulse Polio Immunisation programme aims to cover everyone in India simultaneously, striving to reach even children in remote communities. Ensuring no child misses immunisation is crucial to preventing the potential occurrence of this debilitating and life-threatening disease.

Coordinating the National Polio Immunisation programme in densely populated cities presents challenges. Resistance from lower socio-economic communities towards the anti-polio campaign further complicates the process. The main campaign occurred on May 28th, 2023, followed by on-site visits and home visits for the next five days.

To maximise participation, we offered several forms of support:

Gifts for every child receiving polio drops, attracting maximum participation from the area around the Mumbadevi temple.

Rotary-branded shaded umbrellas for the immunisation team to work in the heat, placed strategically in high-traffic market areas.

Provision of snacks, lunch, and water to the team and volunteers.

Certificates for volunteer participation.

The transit polio booth camp was successful, with over 500 beneficiaries visiting the three supported camp sites near the Mumbadevi temple.

Historical triumph: 'Mapped!' closes on a high note

The 'Mapped!' exhibition, meticulously curated by the Rotary Club of Bombay's Urban Heritage Committee (UHC), ended on a spectacular note. Visitor numbers skyrocketed in the final week, with daily counts regularly surpassing a hundred and reaching over 500 in the final three days.

The month-long exhibition attracted a diverse group of city residents, from history enthusiasts to young students, by offering a rare opportunity to engage with historical maps and archival records.

The closing ceremony on June 3rd, 2023, was a well-attended affair, with Dr. Mariam Dossal, a distinguished city historian and former Head of the Department of History at the University of Mumbai, delivering a special address. The event was also honoured by the presence of Dr. P.S. Rawat, the great-grandson of Pundit Nain Singh, a noted explorer from the 1860s.

Renu Basu, UHC Chairperson, warmly welcomed the guests, expressed gratitude towards the Tata Group for their support, and acknowledged the hard work of everyone involved in the exhibition. She was later joined by PP Framroze Mehta to present a completed bound volume of the Cartographic Conservation Project Report to Dr. Shehernaz Nalwalla, VP, Asiatic Society of Mumbai (ASM). The handover marked a significant milestone in a project that started in 2019 to preserve some of the rare treasures from ASM's map collection.

Deepti Anand, co-founder of Past Perfect Heritage Management, narrated anecdotes from the exhibition, and Dr. Rawat shared his personal appreciation for the recognition given to the work of the Pundits.

The highlight of the evening was Dr. Dossal's insightful address about the First Bombay Revenue Survey by Thomas Dickenson. Her knowledge greatly enriched the understanding of the maps on display for the audience.

On the final day of the exhibition, the Durbar Hall at ASM saw nearly a thousand visitors, including individuals from various walks of life. 'Mapped!' received coverage from news channels, print media, and social media influencers, making it a memorable event in the city's cultural calendar.

As the curtain fell on 'Mapped!', the Rotary Club of Bombay expressed its gratitude for the opportunity to facilitate such a significant event and looked forward to future endeavours that contribute to the appreciation of the city's rich heritage.
